The Burglar's Tool Box

by The Stainless Steal Rat In this series of articles I will provide all sorts of information on making and using various tools for opening locks, windows, doors and just about anything your little heart desires. Now I'm not trying to imply that any TAF reader is a burglar or that I am for that matter. Several articles have appeared in past issues of TAF on making your own set of lock-picks, and I will assume you read these. First I have a word about buying lock-picks. Anyone with a set of files and/or a Dremel mototool can make a set equal or supperior to what is on the market today. Most places also charge totaly outrageous prices, such as $17 for five picks and two tension wrenches. If you can't buy .022" spring steel (or is that steal?) you can go to an automotive store and pick up two sets of automotive gap gauges (.0015" to .038" per set). These will provide you with enough steel to make a nice set of picks and all kinds of other goodies such as shims and feelers.

When you make tension wrenches it is a good idea to make two of each type (light, medium, and heavy) one set being a little wider than the other. Since not all keyways are the same width a thin tension wrench will slip and a thick one will bind the pick in the key way.

After you have bent the wrench you must heat treat it. In order to do this heat the wrench until it is bright orange and then throw it into a can of water. Then polish it with emmry cloth until it is nice and shiny. Then using an alcohol lamp heat the wrench until it starts to turn a light blue color. As soon as this color starts to show move the pick toward the untreated part. When you are finnished the wrench should have a nice even color to it. If the color turns black or dissapeares you have over-heated the wrench and must start over, since the wrench will be too soft and bend. When making picks be sure to make all the curves smooth and even. If the curveis too large the pick will get stuck between pins when raking. Once Ju start to pick higher quality locks such as 6.7 or 8 pins and mushroom drivers such as Medco, it becomes nearly impossible to pick each pin individually. Your best bet is to move the pick rapidly up and down and slowly in and out. Also many times the shape of the pick you are using will not be able to push the last 1 or 2 pins down because of the level of the rins that are already picked. Thus if you see that most of the pins are picked and you are not getting anywhere, try switching picks without releasing the tension. Another device that is very helpful is the "lug spinner. Many times a lock picks easily in one direction. Usually the wrong direction i might add. Thus one picks the lock and then uses the plug spinner to throw the plug back in the reverse direction with enough speed so that the pins don't fall back into place. To make one you need a stiff 2" spring that has a !" to }" diameter. Take one end and pull it out so that it sticks straight out. Now double the end over itself so that it will catch in the keyway. As a handle take a 21" nail and epoxy it to the other end between the coils. You may want to flatten the end of tha nail so that you can use it to turn the cores on old or rusted locks. To use the spinner, pick a lock and turn the core as far as it will go. Insert a small screw driver into the top of the key way and put the end of the plug spinner into the center. Now use the screw driver to keep the core from turning while you wind up the spinner. After about 2 or 3 turns on the spinner jerk the screw driver out of the key way and hopefully the plug will spin fast enough other side. Fractice is the key. Skeleton picks are a little like master keys or more correctly skeleton keys in the fact that they will open every lock of the type they are made for. The most common type of lock that is openable by this method is the Master padlock. The keys come in several different sizes and two different shapes. The lock is made up of a bunch of plates that are staked on each other and then riveted together. There are two different types of plates that make up the lock; warded so that it will go past the center and to the and open.

TAP ROOM 603 147 W. 42 ST. NEW YORK 10036

JULY - AUGUST

O shakle Fig. C A warded plate has a slit . in it (see fig. C-A), while a open plate has a hole in it (see fig C-B).

Thus be mixing the plates a key combination is made up. For every warded plate there is a cut in the key. By the way fig. A is a cross section of the two different types of keys. The only difference between them is the direction of the curve. At the bottom of the lock there are two springs that hold the shakle closed (see fig.D). The spring arms are held in the slots of the shakle and thus keep it from moving up. When the key is inserted it stops right at the bottom of the lock(the last plate) so that the last two parts of the key are parallel to the springs. Thus as the key is turned the springs are pushed away from each other and the shakle is set free. Meanwhile back at the wards ... We can see that an uncut part of the key will get stuck in the ward. However a cut part is free to turn wether the plate is warded or open. Thus we cut the whole key exept the very tip where the key contacts the spring. The finnished product looks like fig. D with the striped parts removed. Now we can open all the locks regardless of their plate combination. Well, thats all for this month friends. So stay cool and keep on pickin'!

AUTOVON

Ah, yes, a favorite subject of mine. A few things to mention since I last spoke of it. First, it seems that the 4th column tone really is 1633 Hz (I should have known never to have doubted The Magician...) There are a number of reasons that I believe this. First, it seems that the DoD made a small mistake, and auctioned off a number of telephones in Washington, DC. It further seems that these phones had grey keys, except for four extra red ones, labeled "FO, F, I, P" going down from the top. When any two of these keys were pressed, 1633 Hz was generated. I haven't seen these phones, and their sale is rumor. But what isn't? Second, I talked with a friend of mine, a one DC Central. DC knows a little about AUTOVON (more than people in previous columns of mine, anyway) and he says that the USAF 412L (the 4xxL, as he says, implying that there are more than 1 matrix) matrix is only used for on-base communications, and that between base communications use the 1633 Hz tone. However, it turns out my friend in a previous issue was correct: the new names for FOFIP are Flash, Immediate, Priority, and Routine. However, the definitions of the signals are, well, the word "wrong" springs to mind. They really are (from a DoD phone book, no less):

Plash: "... reserved for alerts, warnings, or other emergency actions having immediate bearing on national, command or area security (e.g., Presidential use; announcement of alert; opening of hostilities; land, air or sea catastrophies, ...) " Immediate: "... reserved for ... communications (1) having an immediate operational effect on tactical operations, (2) which directly concern safety or rescue operations, (3) which effect the intelligence community operational role...* Priority: "... reserved for calls which require prompt completion for national defense and security, the successful conduct of war, or to safeguard life or property... Normally, Priority will be the highest precedence which may be asigned to administrative matters for which speed of handling is of paramount importance." Routine: "... reserved for all other official communications." Let me stress one military phrase which is throughout most military phone books; "Do not discuss classified information on the telephone."

The military is right for sure this time, and we phreaks would do well to listen to this proverb, as one never knows who else is listening to one's conversation. We need more info on AUTOVON, though. I know some people out there know more than I know about AUTOVON: So make my guesses disappear by replacing them with facts! 1633 Bz Loop Arounds Unless I am mistaken, on CAMA, "billing" infor-free calls in so doing, they could check for calls to DA which lasted for over three minutes. I have the feeling that this wouldn't be too hard, so keep those calls short! Blue Box Fraud Detection I had been wondering for a long time about how Bell knows when we make a blue box call. "2600 Hz detectors on trunks!" comes the unsolicited mass reply. But we all know that 2600 Hz detectors aren't cheap, and putting them on every trunk is costly and time consuming. So what do they know the equipment (#5xB, #4E) thinks that something is wrong (i.e., the MF pulses aren't being sent at the right rate). So on a crossbar, it drops a trouble card, and on an ESS, a printer screeches quietly to itself. But later when they look at these printouts, and see it's not an equipment error, well, "Hello, security? We have a toll fraud problem here... " Of course, on these cards or printouts, they'll have the number called, the calling number, and the time of day. TASI There has been some wonder lately on what TASI is, and what a "TASI locking frequency" does. Well,

Well, MF tones are sent at a certain speed, even on operator trunks. Now, whenever you send your . little tones at normal, error prone numan speed, on satellite trunks, and basically allows more than one person to use a trunk by putting them on while the other person is not talking. Of course, you'd never hear the other person talking on your trunk. When you start to talk, however, the TASI controller has to find an open trunk for you. Because of this, some of your speech is lost

TASI (fime Assignment Speech Interpolation) is used called clipping. well, if you were transmitting data over a trunk, clipping would really mess up the data. So. there is something called a TASI locking frequency which keeps TASI from putting anyone else on your because of the delay in finding a trunk. This is trunk, or you on anyone else's trunk. For this to work, according to Notes On The Network (sec. 7, p. 58), one must produce the "...emission of a special tone followed by continuous energy in at least one direction of transmission (no simultaneous gaps longer the 192 ms)." I believe this frequency is 1850 Hz. In any case, it is also the same frequency as the "echo supress" frequency. Any experimenters out there? The Phone Phreak's Ten Commandments

The uninitiated person would probably say, "Ha! I need lumber, I'll so down to my locat lumber ward and steal it!" No! No! That's not the way to do it! Get in your car (or get yourself one from a friend, if you have one) and drive around to somewhere where they harren to be building new houses. This is your lumber yard? much easier to rip off for what you need. You Get wourself about ten 10-foot 2-by-10s (those are the one what measure 1-3/4 by 9 inches) and anything else what looks like you may need it. Take wour sondies home and now you set yourself down to build the frame. For a typical queen size frame you want the inner dimensions of the frame to be 60 inches by 84 inches. Cut a corner into the bottom of your 2x10s that you are soins to use for the frame so that you have a cut halfway across, running along the short side (3/4 inch in) and 1/2 to 5/8 running up the long side. This "pocket" will hold in your plywood for the base. What? I didn't mention that you needed Pluwood for the base? Take 3 sheets of 1/2 or 5/8

1-1/4 is about right- and put the frame together. Remember, this thing is going to weigh about 1500 pounds when it's set up, so don't be chear on the screws. Nails are not good enough! Beg, steal, borrow: steal; or steal the screws and do it right. If you want a redestal on the bed, cut 4 pieces of 2×10 about 4 inches shorter than the frame pieces and assemble them into a box. Inside this box you criss-cross pieces of plywood cut 9° tall so that you have support for your plywood base. Cut your 2 pieces of plywood remaining into two pieces (asain, for queen size, 30°) half as you cut into the 2x10s on the frame). Now but the plywood pieces on top of the pedestal, and but the frame on top of that so that the frame fits onto the pockets exactly. Now you so set yourself a mattress and a heater, a fill and drain kit, and a hose. Bon't forset a liner for the fucker in case it leaks! Put the heater down on your plawood base, but the liner on top of that and nail it to the side of the frame with small strips of - oh, what the hell - Plywood, or half-round molding that you appropriated on your expedition.
